

Heidi Voigt: Editor in Chief

Voigt is a third year Spanish and English double major with a minor in global & cultural language studies who intends to work abroad after she graduates (with a little time set aside for creative writing grad school just to prove that she can do it all). On campus, she is the president of Ever Upwards Poetry Society, a tutor at the Rose Warner Writing Center, and a member of the honors program, team Delta, and concert band. She writes a weekly historical fiction column that focuses on the history of the school. She enjoys going on outdoor adventures, leaving on spontaneous road trips, and taking snuggle naps with her rabbit, Cashew.

Emily Kiemele: Managing Editor

Kiemele is a third year health information management student with a sustainability concentration who intends to complete law school once she graduates. Emily stays very busy on campus as the Display and Scenic Artist for the theatre, executive member of the student health information management association, sitting member of the Faculty Student Committee for her studies, as well as a member of the honors program. Emily is also a coach for the Duluth East High School Dance Team. When she has a bit of free time, Emily loves to spend time outside, with her dogs, or collecting and playing all the different versions of Monopoly.

Kaylee Newlander: Layout Editor

Newlander is a third year Biology major with minors in German and global, culture & language studies. This is her first year working at The Script and she's excited to see how it goes. She is an avid reader and enjoys nice-but-not-too-hot 60 degree days in Duluth. She sincerely misses her dog and can sometimes be found roaming aimlessly around campus in search of creatures to pet (Black Bear Warnings Do Nothing To Deter This). She doesn't have any set plans for the future, but is ready to take on any problem.

Kate Miller: Fundraising Editor

Miller is a third year English major at Scholastica. After college she plans to run into the fields of life and English degrees with no regrets. If asked today what she wants to do with her chosen major, she'd have an entirely different answer from yesterday's response. No one is supposed to have all the answers. She loves exploring new places, reaffirmed last spring on her semester abroad in Ireland. Also involved in Concert Band, English Club, Crochet and Knit Club, Delta, and the behind the scenes of CSS Theatre productions, Miller wants to experience maybe everything before making final decisions.
